

Andrew Steven Bartolucci-Engelbert, Fifth Generation Family Member

Fifth Generation family member, Andrew Bartolucci-Engelbert, has been learning the ways of winemaking since his birth in January 2005. Though only three years old, he has discovered his niche in the business. For the past three harvests he has enjoyed his role as quality control specialist. His duties have included sampling the fruit and stomping on various varietals. Andrew also spends his time in our organic vineyard searching for bugs and reptiles though to date he has only located a few ladybugs and frogs. He also makes it his job to oversee his Grandfather Buck's tractors and asks him if he can participate in test drives.
